SAYS ATTACKS AGAINST HIMSELF AND THE JURY UNWARRANTED, UNTRUE

Judge James W. Perkins today handed down his order declining to hear the case against T. Edward Fitzgerald on the charge of criminal libel. This order and signing the caption of Judge Perkins is as follows: "It has been called to the attention of this court that the state's attorney, that T. Edward Fitzgerald, the defendant named in said case, through the columns of the Daytona Daily News repeatedly attacked the grand jury that returned a true bill against the said T. Edward Fitzgerald, and has also been guilty of criminally attacking through the publishing of the same paper the acts of officials, including the Judge of said Court.

"So far as the attacks of the defendant upon the Judge of the Court are concerned, the Judge pronounces them unwarranted and untrue, so far as the attacks affect the Grand Jury and the Court officials, the Judge believes them to be untrue. But, under the circumstances, the Judge of the court does not deem it wise to proceed with the trial of this cause, and the Judge of the Circuit, therefore, of his own motion, suggests his own disqualification to try the said case, and the clerk of the Court is hereby ordered to make this suspension of record duty that a copy of this order be entered in the minutes of the Court."

KING GEORGE SAID TO FAVOR RETURN OF KING CONSTANTINE

(The Associated Press.)

ATHENS, Nov. 24—...

JIM VAUGHN, THE CUB PITCHER, STABBED BY HIS FATHER-IN-LAW

(The Associated Press.)

If failure, of course, every body must have a longer ... some kind of ... three meals a day, that the 90 per cent who work with their hand and brain (counting their families) must of necessity be the great body of consumers in any nation. If these people are steadily employed at good wages, as Babson points out, they can continue to consume at a maximum and business will be "good." If, however, drastic wage cuts and lay-offs are resorted to by business men, rather than sell at a reasonable price, the consumers, with incomes curtailed or stopped, cannot continue to buy back the products they have produced for the owners of industry. That means "bad" business.

No nation can long remain prosperous unless the vast body of its workers are profitably employed.

CONTENTED?

Think of it; a really contented man has been found; a man who is perfectly satisfied with his lot in life and the condition in which he lives!

And where do you suppose he is? Not in a marble palace or in a New York lobster house.

He is in a penitentiary. He is in the prison at Raiford, Fla., where the state keeps its convicts on a farm and works them outdoors. This contented prisoner is a convict. He is a negro who is not worried by his lack of social equality with the white convicts and who is well fed, has a good bed and light work. He wants nothing more.

This negro has been in the prison 40 years, according to reliable authority, though he was originally sent up to serve a term of just 21 months. But he liked the prison so well that when the time came for his discharge he refused to leave the place and has been there ever since.

Does this strange instance of a contented convict mean that the prison is so well conducted as that the convict himself is utterly lacking in ambition? Draw your own conclusions. There is probably a good deal of both in the conditions. The negro is lacking in ambition; most negroes are that, but he is also well provided for.

The Florida prison is well conducted, on the honor system and the food provided is good. The beds are good and it does not appear to be a prison because there are not high walls and no cell blocks with heavy iron bars and prisoners are allowed considerable freedom.

How many wardens in the United States can boast that their prisoners like the place so well that even one of them stays voluntarily?

LAUGH AND GROW FAT

Once a physician was called in a hurry to see a nursing baby that had violent convulsions. In the course of his visit he learned that a washerwoman in the house had got too wild and threatened the cook with a knife and that that had frightened the baby's mother.

He took a sample of the mother's milk for analysis and found that its different constituents were all out of proportion—too little of this and too much of that.

The mother's fear had deranged her bodily functions enough to change the milk; the ill-proportioned milk had caused the baby's indigestion; and the indigestion had caused the convulsions.

What kind of health would that baby have had if the mother had been kept on edge continually by perpetual family quarrels, or if the child itself a little later had had its stomach turned by endless scolding and fault finding?

"Better is a dinner of herbs where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith." Better in every way.

MAKING 'EM HAPPY

The three Turkey-grabbing nations make it clear in their agreement that they are "anxious to help Turkey develop her resources." The result will be "more happiness for the Turks."

Not many centuries ago nations came to the New World, fully as anxious to help the natives develop their resources. They did that very thing. And the natives were made happy. Indeed, most of them were rushed right off to their happy hunting grounds!

BE THANKFUL

Yes, wherever you are, you have good reason to be thankful this day.

If you are a profiteer—be thankful your body hasn't shrivelled up and blown away, like your soul.

If you are a politician, successful Nov. 2, or otherwise—be thankful God doesn't blast liars as he is reported to have done in Old Testament days.

If you are an instigator of class hatred, as a home-leader of honest labor—be thankful American workers are sane, level-headed, slow to hot resentment.

If you imagine baronets ever rectified anything—be thankful the deluge is delayed, slightly.

If you agree with Browning that "all's right with the world"—be thankful there are not enough asylums to hold all the morons.

If you are a liberal-minded, outspoken American, who still believes in and practices the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—be thankful you are still alive and out of jail, if you are!

And wherever you are—high or low, rich or poor, privileged or exploited—be thankful that you live in the United States, a country far from perfect, but the best place in the world to live, after all, your homeland to help make better, till it actually realizes the ideals of liberty and human happiness written boldly in its fundamental charter.

COMMON SENSE

Roger W. Babson has said something for business men to think about.

"Business men should note the acceptance of a sound truth on the part of an increasing number of employers, namely that the consuming power of the public depends upon decent wage levels and steady employment. A drastic and general wage cut in all industries would mean a direct loss in sales. This should not be lost sight of by merchants and their present reluctance to reduce mark-ups."

It is sound advice. While all is said and done, the foreign trade of the United States, enormous as it is when stated in dollars is a drop in the bucket to the domestic market. It remains true that American merchants must find their real market for goods in the United States. This will become increasingly evident as [illegible] readjustment proceeds and Europe becomes able to liquidate the one-sided balance of trade that has existed since the beginning of the great World War.

The home market must be the principal dependence of business men.

And what is this home market? It is the vast body of workingmen and women — hand and brain workers — whose daily toil produces the commodity which the population needs in its daily life. Roughly speaking, it may be said that 90 per cent of the population belong to workers' families. Ten per cent, perhaps, live by ownership.

PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE, Nov. 26—Thanksgiving services conducted by Rev. H. G. Fithian will be held in Brown's hall on Thursday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The death of Mrs. James K. Smith on Tuesday afternoon surprised and shocked the people of this community but few of whom knew that Mrs. Smith was seriously ill, and the deep sympathy of our people goes out to the bereaved husband, daughter and two grandchildren in their sorrow.

Mr. Hebanks, who recently purchased the winter property, has bought the horse and wagon used by J. H. Carver and has engaged in the wood business for himself.

Clark Brown has moved his family in part of the B. F. Bailey residence.

Harvey Spencer has bought the house and lot west of Brown's store and expects to be here in a few days. Mr. Spencer lived with his father in the Milburn cottage last winter, lost his eyesight in a railroad accident years since. His father, Platt R. Spencer has taken possession of the property and they plan to spend the winter here.

John Moore arrived Monday and is located in his home, formerly the Wolfe cottage, this place has been sold three times in less than a year. This is an index of the demand for houses in this place. Mr. Moore is from Ohio and is an uncle of W. C. Moore.

Mr. Moore and party of five arrived Monday from New Haven, Conn., after a 23 days trip via Overland. Eight days were spent in repairing. They were directed to Savannah and had to return to Waycross, and describe the roads as "fierce" in Georgia and the Carolinas being cut to pieces by large trucks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hollingsworth and baby came in Tuesday from Ludlow Falls, Ohio, via the Ford route and are located in the east Bailey cottage for the season and report two or three more cars enroute from their vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman and friends from Detroit are camped on the "Lyman Corner" on the river drive where the asphalt road turns down the river shore, and plan to remain for the season.

Mr. Gilman, who is in charge of the Wilbur interests, came last week and is getting things in that little town. Others have also arrived and the town is getting ready for business with practically all the hotel rooms engaged.

Every woman in Port Orange and vicinity is invited to be present at the first meeting of the Library and Literary association on Wednesday of next week, Dec. 1 at 2:30 p. m. at [illegible] Hall, program [illegible]. Strangers can learn the plans for the season and join the club with privileges of the library free for the season.

BE THANKFUL

Yes, whoever you are, you have real reason to be thankful this day.

If you are a profiteer—be thankful your body hasn't shrivelled up and blown away, like your soul.

If you are a politician, successful Nov. 2, or otherwise—be thankful God doesn't blast liars as he is reported to have done in Old Testament days.

If you are an instigator of class hatred, as a brow-beater of honest labor—be thankful American workers are sane, level-headed, slow to hot resentment.

If you imagine bayonets ever settled anything—be thankful the deluge is delayed, slightly.

If you agree with Browning that "all's right with the world" — be thankful there are not enough asylums to hold all the morons.

If you are a liberal-minded, outspoken American, who still believes in and practices the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—be thankful you are still alive and out of jail, if you are!

And whoever you are—high or low, rich or poor, privileged or exploited be thankful that you live in the United States, a country far from perfect, but the best place in the world to live, after all; your homeland to help make better, till it actually realizes the ideals of liberty and human happiness written boldly in its fundamental charter.

COMMON SENSE

Roger W. Babson has said something for business men to think about.

"Business men should note the acceptance of a sound truth on the part of an increasing number of employers, namely, that the consuming power of the public depends upon decent wage levels and steady employment. A drastic and general wage cut in all industries would mean a distinct loss in sales. This should not be lost sight of by merchants and their present reluctance to reduce mark-ups."

It is sound advice. When all is said and done, the foreign trade of the United States, enormous as it is when stated in dollars is a drop in the bucket to the domestic market. It remains true that American merchants must find their real market for goods in the United States. This will become increasingly evident as economic readjustment proceeds and Europe becomes able to liquidate the one-sided balance of trade that has existed since the beginning of the great World War.

The home market must be the principal dependance of business men.

And what is this home market? It is the vast body of workingmen and women — hand and brain workers—whose daily toil produces the commodities which the population needs in its daily life. Roughly speaking, it may be said that 90 per cent of the population belong to workers' families. Ten per cent, perhaps, live by ownership.

If follows, of course, since everybody must have a house to live in, some kind of clothing to wear, and must eat three meals a day, that the 90 per cent who work withtheir hand and brain (counting their families) must of necessity be the great body of consumers in any nation. If these people are steadily employed at good wages, as Babson points out, they can continue to consume at a maximum and business will be "good." If, however, drastic wage cuts and lay-offs are resorted to by business men, rather than sell at a reasonable price, the consumers, with income curtailed or stopped, cannot continue to buy back the products they have produced for the owners of industry. That means "bad" business.

No nation can long remain prosperous unless the vast body of its workers are profitably employed.

—o—o—

CONTENTED?

Think of it: a really contented man has been found; a man who is perfectly satisfied with his lot in life and the condition in which he lives!

And where do you suppose he is? Not in a marble palace or in a New York lobster house.

He is in a penitentiary. He is in the prison at Raiford, Fla., where the state keeps its convicts on a farm and works them outdoors. This contented prisoner is a convict. He is a negro who is not worried by his lack of social equality with the white convicts and who is well fed, has a good bed and light work. He wants nothing more.

This negro has been in the prison 40 years, according to reliable authority, though he was originally sent up to serve a term of just 18 months. But he liked the prison so well that when the time came for his discharge he refused to leave the place and has been there ever since.

Does this strange instance of a contented convict mean that the prison is so well conducted or that the convict himself is utterly lacking in ambition? Draw your own conclusions. There is probably a god deal of both in the conditions. The negro is lacking in ambition; most negroes are that, but he is also well provided for.

The Florida prison is well conducted, on the honor system and the food provided is good. The beds are good and it does not appear to be a prison because there are not high walls and no cell blocks with heavy iron bars and prisoners are allowed considerable freedom.

How many wardens in the United States can boast that their prisoners like the place so well that even one of them stays voluntarily?

LAUGH AND GROW FAT

Once a physician was called in a hurry to see a nursing baby that had violent convulsions. In the course of his visit he learned that a washerwoman in the house had got too wild and threatened the cook with a knife and that that had frightened the baby's mother.

He took a sample of the mother's milk for analysis and found that its different constituents were all out of proportion—too little of this and too much of that.

The mother's fear had deranged her bodily functions enough to change the milk; the ill-proportioned milk had caused the baby's indigestion; and the indigestion had causedthe convulsions.

What kind of health would that baby have had if the mother had been kept on edge continually by perpetual family quarrels, or if the child itself a little later had had its stomach turned by endless scolding and fault finding?

"Better is a dinner of herbs where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith." Better in every way.

MAKING 'EM HAPPY

The three Turkey-gobbling nations make it clear in their agreement that they are "anxious to help Turkey develop her resources." The result will be "more happiness for the Turks."

Not many centuries ago nations came to the New World, fully as anxious to help the natives develop their resources. They did that very thing. And the natives were made happy. Indeed, most of them were rushed right off to their happy hunting grounds!

PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE, Nov. 24—Thanksgiving services conducted by Rev. H. G. Fithian will be held in Brown's hall on Thursday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The death of Mrs. James E. Smith on Tuesday afternoon surprised and shocked the people of this community but few of whom knew that Mrs. Smith was seriously ill, and the deep sympathy of our people goes out to the bereaved husband, daughter and two grandchildren in their sorrow.

Mr. Eubanks, who recently purchased the winter property, has bought the horse and wagon used by J. H. Carrow and has engaged in the wood business for himself.

Clark Brown has moved his family in part of the B. F. Butler residence.

Harvey Spencer has bought the house and lot west of Brown's store and expects to be here in a few days. Mr. Spencer lived with his father in the Milburn cottage last winter, lost his eyesight in a railroad accident years since. His father, Platt R. Spencer has taken possession of the property and they plan to spend the winter here.

John Moore arrived Monday and is located in his home, formerly the Wells' cottage, this place has been sold three times in less than a year. This is an index of the demand for houses in this place. Mr. Moore is from Ohio and is an uncle of W. C. Moore.

Mr. Moore and party of five arrived Monday from New Haven, Conn., after a 22 days trip via Overland. Eight days were spent in repairing. They were directed to Savannah and had to return to Waycross, and describe the roads as "fierce" in Georgia and the Carolinas being cut to pieces by large trucks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hollingsworth and baby came in Tuesday from Ludlow Falls, Ohio, via the Ford route and are located in the east Bailey cottage for the season and report two or three more cars enroute from their vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman and several others from Detroit are camped on the "Lyman Corner" on the river shore where the asphalt road turns down the river shore, and plan to remain for the season.

Mr. Gilman, who is in charge of the Wilbur interests, came last week and is pushing things in that little town. Others have also arrived and the town is getting ready for business with practically all the hotel rooms engaged.

Every woman in Port Orange and vicinity is inivted to be present at the first meeting of the Library and Literary association on Wednesday of next week, Dec. 1 at 2:30 p. m. at Grace Guild (Ridgewood) Hall, program club calendars. Strangers can learn the plans for the season and join the club with privilege of the library free for the season.

C. A. RANDALL SUBMITS ARGUMENTS FOR BEACH TOWNS CONSOLIDATION WORTHY OF THOUGHT

There is no denying that C. A. Randall of the East Coast State bank is jointly and vitally interested in the welfare of both Daytona Beach and Seabreeze.

"You can put me down as being most heartily in favor of a complete and harmonious consolidation—one without any strings, and I am willing to make any reasonable concessions in order to accomplish it," said Mr. Randall most emphatically to a News representative today. "Some Seabreeze taxpayers, in opposing consolidation, have argued that it would result in raising their tax levy as well as their valuation," he continued, "but I am in favor of agreeing upon a plan which would avoid any such a result. In this county our road improvements are handled by districts and one district man make an improvement and increase its expenses without affecting the others. In Greater New York, Brooklyn, Manhattan, the Bronx or any one of the other districts can go to any expense it may desire and install any improvement the people of that particular locality wish, while the other districts take no part in it nor are they called upon to share in any of the cost. It seems to me some such a plan could easily be carried out here. Under a consolidation we could have two precincts and each precinct could vote upon its improvements and expenditures and the people of the Seabreeze precinct could retain their present tax millage and property valuation and the Daytona Beach side could control its finances and yet in a general way they could be one city with one set of officers, one postoffice and one name. I am perfectly willing each locality shall retain its own individuality so far as it does not interfere with the general good or in any material manner retard the progress of the community as a whole."

"As for the name of the consolidated town," urges Mr. Randall, "such a thing is not worth fighting over. I am for consolidation and willing to accept most any name. I would be willing to call it either Seabreeze or Daytona Beach, or select a new name altogether. For instance, a name like 'Florida Beach,' or 'Volusia Beach,' would suit me all right, and there is no other postoffice in the state of like name. I have given this question considerable thought and tried to look at it from every angle, but I am thoroughly convinced that there are many good reasons why there should be a consolidation and none why there should not."

Mr. Treglown for It

"For eight years, or ever since I have lived here, I have been an ardent friend of consolidation," remarked H. T. M. Treglown, who has long been a full fledged citizen of this community and one who stands for progress, both as to private and public enterprises. "It seems to me," said Mr. Treglown, "that all of the people of both communities would in the end be materially benefited by having one municipality, one set of officers, one postoffice and one name, both in that their public expense would be decreased thereby and their power of accomplishment for the community as a whole would be greatly augmented. Yes, I am for one town and a united purpose, and I will be very glad to see any effort to them a success."

Postmaster Gilmore Not Worrying

Postmaster Harry D. Gilmore of Seabreeze, when asked what he thought about the consolidation of the two towns said:

"As for me I have no objection to consolidation, and I don't want the question of my office to enter into the discussion. I am not worried but that I will be taken care of all right, no matter what happens. If the majority of the people of Seabreeze favor getting together I am heartily for it and if they are opposed I will also be against it, as their interests are mine in the matter."

"It is a fact, however," continued Mr. Gilmore, "that the building I am provided with for an office is very inadequate. My work room is only 7x16 feet in size and my lobby only 11x16. It is not equipped with any modern conveniences except lights, needs painting badly and presents a very uninviting appearance generally."

COUNCIL APPROVES PLANS SUBMITTED FOR A FINE FIRE FIGHTING MACHINE

What proved both an interesting and important meeting of the Daytona Beach council was the regular meeting of Monday night. All of the members were present as was also Mayor R. E. Niven, who took an influential part in the proceedings. Besides discussing and taking action on the price of fire protection for Seabreeze hereafter and all the future prices of water, both for domestic consumption and for the city of Seabreeze as reported in Tuesday's Daily News, many other matters of interest were considered and disposed of.

It was decided that any call from Seabreeze for the use of the Daytona Beach fire department must come from an officer of that place duly authorized to speak for the corporation in order to have it responded to.

It was voted unanimously to pay $1,800 interest on the municipal bonds and $1,000 on the $6,000 loan from the East Coast State bank. Another obligation was voted to secure the $3,000 secured for the use of the water works through H. E. Pence. The two former resolutions regarding this subject were rescinded.

It was voted to refer a bill for $600 for the repair of a crankshaft for one of the water works engines to City Attorney F. W. Pope, who was present. The engine itself cost less than the amount of this bill.

All of the recommendations of Chief W. E. French of the fire department pertaining to the equipment and government and the good of the service were presented to the council for approval. They heretofore appeared in the columns of the News. The chief's suggestion as to alarm signals, instructions to call men and the general powers of the chief and duties of the call members were all promptly approved. The proposition to purchase a new electric fire alarm system, 500 feet of new hose and other needed equipment was referred to the fire committee with power to act. It is probable the chief and the committee will get together within a day or two and order what is required. The new "siren" alarm system will cost $290.

In the course of a discussion with reference to the attitude of the Seabreeze council toward Daytona Beach, Councilman Tracy called attention to the fact it only a few weeks ago the local council had proposed to the Seabreeze body that they join in the drilling of a well on the schoolhouse grounds for the use of the school children, that they might be provided with cool, fresh water direct from the earth, which suggestion was absolutely ignored. "Now," he said, "I understand some of the Seabreeze folks, including the principal of the school, have been complaining of the water. It was the general consensus of opinion as expressed by all the members that they were willing to do their full share, and then some, in treating Seabreeze fairly and justly."

Chief French requested that he be given written instructions from the council as to when and upon what authority he should answer calls from Seabreeze.

In fixing the price of water the large consumers were allowed the following discounts on their monthly bills: Those using $25 worth, 33 1-3 per cent; those using $20 worth, 20 per cent; those using $15 worth, 15 per cent, and those using $10 worth, 10 per cent.

Mayor Niven explained very clearly that heretofore Daytona Beach has never received for its water either from Seabreeze or from local consumers the actual cost of production. He said nothing has ever been allowed for depreciation in computing the cost, when, in fact, it is necessary to replace nearly all the machinery once in 10 years. He contended that at 25 cents per thousand gallons that Seabreeze, with practically no overhead expense, would be obtaining its water supply fully as cheap as Daytona Beach, which has all the maintenance and necessary expense to take care of. The council finally agreed with him.

It was voted to notify all property owners on the south side of Duke street to lay sidewalks at once. They have 30 days in which to act. This is the street leading to the Auditorium.

Collector G. A. Parker was authorized to issue at once the certificates of liens on property for road improvements. His accounts will be audited later.

[illegible] BY GUY G. BAILEY

President Guy G. Bailey of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Chamber of Commerce is very much interested in the establishment here of a regularly organized real estate board, constituted of properly licensed real estate dealers.

Mr. Bailey has been paying considerable attention to what real estate boards in other cities have been able to do in the interest of their respective communities, and is confident that similar results can be achieved here with the necessary efforts. He takes the position that while we have several real estate dealers here who are absolutely reliable and on the square every minute that we also have a few of the other kind who are not so particular as to how they increase the size of their commissions. He has found, upon investigation, that many communities have been beatified and magnificently improved and civic development generally augmented through the efforts of local real estate boards, which have been organized with great care as to the personnel of the membership.

Realty Men Willing

"After talking with some of our local real estate men," said Mr. Bailey, "I am gratified to find their willingness to affiliate themselves in every way possible with every institution and influence that promises to benefit the community in general. For this reason I feel certain that a regularly organized real estate board here would have a very large influence in shaping the destiny of our municipalities, as I believe it would, to a great extent, take the lead in many public matters, such as the designing and beautifying of parks and public places, appraising properties and using its influence whenever necessary for the revision of laws on taxation, with the principal object in view of lifting some of the burdens from the property owners and thereby encouraging people to own their own homes. I have known some cases in which the local real estate boards have taken into their membership leading business and professional men and property owners, thoroughly co-operating with them and harmoniously working for the welfare of their community. I also know of another instance where a local real estate board was instrumental in the passing of a city ordinance requiring that all real estate dealers operating in a community be licensed. There is no reason why the members of the realty profession should not enjoy the same degree of private and public confidence as is enjoyed by the members of other professions. With a regularly organized body of this kind, there could be established and maintained committees on membership, publicity, farm lands and taxation, which would doubtless prove of untold benefit to the community at large."

Would Keep Business Above Criticism

Mr. Bailey is also strongly of the opinion that with a regularly organized real estate board anything like a questionable real estate deal would rarely ever be heard of. "Now and then, under present conditions, we hear of a case," continued Mr. Bailey, "where a real estate broker employed to sell a certain property, defrauds his employer to promise compensation by representing that he cannot sell the property for more than a set price, when, in fact, he has already found a purchaser for more than that price, or, where he in any way misrepresents the price for which the property is sold. I find that in many states the courts are holding that under such conditions a real estate dealer cannot recover commission for selling the property."

Such was the decision of the Supreme court of Iowa in Braden versus Randles, 128 Iowa, 432, 103 N. W. [illegible]. There a real estate broker was promised a commission consisting of all that the property sold for in excess of $2,000. The broker found a purchaser at $2,100, but reported to the owner that the buyer would pay not more than $2,000 and that if the deal were closed he should at least receive some compensation, whereupon the owner agreed to pay him $20.

Just prior to the time set for the closing of the deal the owner of the property discovered the agent's wrong dealing and refused to consummate the sale, whereupon the broker sued the owner to recover his commission, which he claimed was the difference between the $2,100 offered and the $2,000 net price set by the owner.

The court held that the agent's misrepresentations concerning the price offered by the purchaser constituted such fraud as prevented any recovery for services rendered.

Sunrise Service Thursday, 6:45 Clarendon Hotel

Did you ever see the sun rise out of the ocean. Do you know how it would feel to stand with uncovered head and witness such a scene and let God, through Nature, speak to your soul?

Thursday morning about 6:45, an opportunity will be given to all who really want the best place to express their gratitude when a special Thanksgiving service will be conducted under the auspices of the Young People's Council of the Triple Cities. The place is the south approach to the Clarendon hotel, on the south wing of the sun-porch. Set your alarm clock and get up in time to get a soul-bath. While the service is under the auspices of the Young People's Council, everybody is invited. Our tourist friends are given a special invitation.

It is an annual affair in Miami, when hundreds of both young and old gather in Royal Palm Park on the banks of Biscayne Bay just as the sun begins to redden and give an added glory to a most wonderful scene. While we have no cocoanut palms, we have everything else that can make this a scene long to be remembered. There will be special features that you will enjoy and the fresh, crisp morning air will prepare you to enjoy your turkey and cranberry sauce.

If you are young, come; if you are not young, come and get young.

This is something different.

GUSSIE NERO IS RELEASED UNDER $500 BOND TODAY

Gussie Nero, colored woman of Midway, who sank an axe into the cranium of her late husband, Arthur Nero, during an altercation last week and who was removed the same day to the county jail, was released today on $500 bond, when application was made for bail by her attorneys, F. W. Pope of this city and Geo. A. DeCottes of Sanford.

Nero died at the colored hospital the same afternoon of the fatal battle, Gussie being charged with murder.

She will have her freedom until the April term of court when she will appear for trial, being represented at that time by Attorneys Pope and DeCottes.

Nine-Hole Golf Course To Be Ready for Play Dec. 20 With Professional Sheppard Here

The nine-hole course of the Daytona Golf and Country club will be in excellent shape for play by December 20th, according to a statement made today by President Carl H. Knappe of the golf club, who has at this time a large force of men working daily on the course, that play may be started before Christmas.

The regular nine-hole course is being groomed to perfection while a tenth hole is being finished for practise, on which the professional will give lessons on approach and putting.

Professional James Sheppard, who was here a short time last season, will be in charge of the professional lessons on the course this year, expecting to arrive about the first of the month. He already has a large class of beginners, and others who will avail themselves of the opportunity to take lessons on the new course.

A new roadway is being constructed at this time from South Ridgewood avenue to the course, 16 feet wide, which will make access to the country club easier for motorists.

In addition, there is being built a temporary building to be used by the guests in changing for play, and for showers. While it is intended that a magnificent clubhouse be erected later on, the funds of the organization at this time make it possible only for a temporary building, which will serve the needs of the guests, with lockers and dressing rooms, etc.

While the first nine-hole course will be in perfect shape for play this season, work is being continued on the second nine-holes that the completed course of 18 holes may be ready for play at least by the opening of the following season, giving Daytona the most picturesque golf course in the South.

Mr. Knappe is sparing no effort to give Daytona residents and their guests a course of which they may well feel proud.

Evangelist Chas. Weigle Drawing Large Audiences

The meetings now being held in the Methodist Episcopal church on the corner of Palmetto avenue and Bay street, at which Evangelist Charles F. Weigle preaches and sings, are becoming quite popular. The size of the audience increases night by night and it is safe to assume that in a few more days the seating capacity of the building will be taxed. Mr. Weigle is a splendid preacher, and at the same time is a most pleasing and forceful singer. His singing alone should attract large audiences. He is not sensational in his preaching and there is a marked absence of some of those features which are too often associated with revival efforts. He is a man of wide and varied experience, having conducted meetings in nearly every state in the Union. He has crossed the Rocky mountains twenty two times, and has a rich fund of illustration in his varied experiences in revival work. It is not often that a man of Mr. Weigle's stamp and ability is found in a city of this size and he should have a crowded building from now on.

THANKSGIVING DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT ST. MARY'S

A special Thanksgiving day service will be held in St. Mary's church on Thanksgiving day morning at 10 o'clock. There will be special music by the choir under the direction of M. P. Cornwall, with sermon by the rector, Rev. Dr. McKay. The public is cordially invited to this service.

COLORED TEAMS PLAY BASEBALL THURSDAY

A fight for the colored championship of the county will be staged by baseball teams representing Daytona and DeLand on the diamond at Institute park, in Midway, Thanksgiving day.

The Daytona Reds and the DeLand Giants will play off their tie for the county colored championship which was postponed from the summer season, the game to begin at 2:30. Special grandstand for whites will be reserved, while parking privileges have been arranged for the many base ball fans who know that they will see a game worth while when these two teams face each other.

Stetson-Southern Football Teams to Play Thanksgiving

The big football game of the year, at DeLand, is scheduled for tomorrow, Thanksgiving day when Stetson University eleven meets the eleven from Southern, their rivals on the gridiron for many years.

The game, which will be largely attended by local fans, begins at 3:45 allowing plenty of time for the trip, after the dinner hour.

Stetson is putting up a good fight this year, having excellent material, and while defeated earlier in the season, promises a game tomorrow that will make Southern go the limit.

As the football game tomorrow is the only event of Thanksgiving afternoon, it is expected that the field will be packed with fans.

SMALL BOY'S CHANCE; VARIOUS METHODS WILL BE FOUND TO GET TO THE CIRCUS

"Hearts and flowers," if you please, professor! Another tradition has been smashed—completely ruined, in fact. And there is cause to grieve, for the tradition that is gone is one which has lasted since long before we were boys—or girls, for that matter. Remember in the old days when the circus came to town and you sneaked out of the back door, all glossed up for the day? And, remember, how you came home in the afternoon sloppy and muddy and dirty and panting, but happy, happier than you had ever been in your life, simply because you held in one grimy paw a ticket for the circus? Yes, you had carried water for the elephant. You had struggled until your back ached. You had worn blisters on your hands, but you had obtained that coveted ticket.

And herein comes the grief. For the Sparks circus is coming to the city for a one day's stay, Monday, November 29th, and when it comes—breathe it gently! There will be no carrying of water for the elephants! "What's the use?" asks Manager Sparks of the circus. "There are hydrants near the lot, so why break the backs of all the small boys in town? Logical, but sad. For to go back to the old days, it would seem these small boys were quite willing to have their backs broken.

However, there is hope for the small boys who haven't the money to see the circus. There are always innumerable bills and heralds to be distributed in advance of the show, and there are always departments with any well regulated circus that can find work for the small boy on circus day, but trust the small boy for methods of getting into the show. He knows.

Volusia County Ministers Meet

The First Baptist church on Monday morning was the gathering place of the ministers of the various sections of Volusia county. There were present ministers from every section of the county including Revs. Ferran, Patterson, Rutter, Scadeng, MacArthur, Radcliff, Grey, Cannady, Gates, Lewis, Pound, Rightmire, Y. M. C. A. Secy. Reynolds and Evangelist Weigle who is at present in an evangelistic campaign in the M. E. church in this city.

The Rev. Mr. Ferran of the Presbyterian church of DeLand, who is president of the association, presided and Rev. H. S. Rightmire was elected temporary secretary, in the absence of the secretary, Rev. Mr. Wyatt of DeLand. The first meeting of the organization was held some weeks ago at Lake Winona, the Y. M. C. A. camp site. At that time the officers were elected. The principal business of this meeting was the preparation of a constitution, etc. After some discussion such was formulated for the government of the association. One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the reports of the pastors on the value of the "All Family Day" as observed in nearly all the Bible schools in the county last Sunday. Several pastors reported as high as 50 per cent increase in the number present in their schools. Several pastors reported whole families, containing as many as eight and nine members, as being present. Many reported large increase in the offerings but most interesting of all was the apparent enthusiastic adoption of the idea on the part of the people of all the churches.

The idea of the special day was presented some weeks ago to the ministers by Y. M. C. A. Secretary Reynolds and the association expressed appreciation to him during the meeting. At the close of the session which lasted until the noon hour, the members repaired in a body to Luther's restaurant where they regaled the inner man to their satisfaction. The next meeting will be held December 20 at DeLeon Springs and will take the form of a picnic and the ministers' wives will be the guests of the day.

The constitution as adopted reveals the association as having a most worthy object. "The object of this association shall be the furtherance of fraternal relations among its members and sympathetic co-operation in civic, moral and spiritual affairs of the county.

Reported by H. S. Rightmire by request of association. DeLand and New Smyrna papers please copy.

Wrestling [illegible] Is Postponed to Monday, Dec. 6

On account of next Monday being "Circus Night" in Daytona, the athletic exhibition planned by the First Separate Company, National Guard at the Armory has been postponed one week, a wrestling match being scheduled for Monday, Dec. 6 instead.

Jack Jordan, who won his first match here at the opening of the wrestling season will meet either Victor Brown or Jack Middleton, at the Armory on that night, wires being out to match one or the other with Jordan. Both Brown and Middleton are evenly matched with Jordan, being about the same weight, and should furnish an excellent contest.

The winner of the match Monday, Dec. 6, will be challenged by Kilonis, the champion who the National Guard boys tried all last season to bring here. Kilonis is one of the greatest drawing cards in the South, having met and defeated the best men promoters have been able to find as his opponent.

Bringing wrestlers of Kilonis' class here is quite in line with the policy which the National Guard is following, being determined to give fans the best wrestlers in America during the season just opening.

An announcement of Jordan's opponent will be made in a day or two, for the match Dec. 6th.

NO. 3—IS A GIRL SAFE?

By Edith May

When I left Monroe to come east [illegible] mother was anxious. New York, [illegible] people felt, was unsafe for a [illegible] inexperienced girl. Everyone [illegible] I would be surrounded by dangers—on the streets, in the hotel, at the dances, in the movie studio.

I wondered about this. I have been in New York several weeks now and have reached this conclusion:

That there are plenty of dangers for the city girl. And that the girl of reticent ways and modest behavior can avoid them.

In other words, it all depends on the girl herself.

The first thing that startled me in New York was the way the girls and [illegible] dressed.

A girl wearing a bathing suit or ball gown on the street is bound to attract attention from men. If she also does her hair in a freakish way, rouges her cheeks till she looks to be dying of a fever, paints her lips like a brick wall and applies powder with the effect of having dived for an apple in a flour barrel on Hallowe'en, every man who stares at her knows he has a right to.

Advertised for It

If the man insults her, such a girl usually turns upon him in a rage. Yet she has only herself to blame. She had only invited trouble. She advertised for it.

One night when I ran out late to post some letters, a man spoke to me.

"Good evening," he said, "you're in a hurry."

I paid no attention, though I was scared half to death.

"You're too pretty," he went on, sticking close to my elbow, "to be out alone."

I stopped and turned squarely toward him.

"You have made a mistake," I said in an ordinary tone, feeling that if I took a 'How dare you' attitude he would only laugh and go on talking. "I don't wish to be annoyed. Please go."

He stared back at me for an instant, started to speak, stopped, took off his hat awkwardly and walked quickly away with a sheepish grin. I hurried on, did my errand, and returned to the hotel.

That was the only episode of the kind that occurred.

The Hotel Detective

Another thing happened, though, that was kind of funny.

One night Cousin Edna and I got home from a theater rather late. Friend Lady left us at the door in a cab and we went up to our rooms, forgetting to take our key from the desk. Edna volunteered to go back for it.

As she went down in the elevator an elderly man appeared in the corridor, looked at me curiously and said:

"I beg pardon, little girl, are you waiting for something? Can I direct you—help you in any way?"

"No, thank you," I answered. "I am staying here. I'm just waiting for my cousin to come with the key—we forgot it."

He looked puzzled.

"You are stopping at this hotel?"

"Yes."

He looked as if he didn't believe it, but said no more.

I was glad when Edna came. As we walked down the corridor to our door the man followed a little way. He watched us go in. We were nervous, and after a while we opened the door a crack and looked out. He had gone.

I told Friend Lady the next day. She asked me to describe the man.

"Too Countrified"

"It was the hotel detective," she said.

And all at once I realized that in my home-made frock and hat my countrified appearance doesn't square very well with that gorgeous hotel. Probably the detective had never seen anything just like me there before. No wonder he was puzzled!

I laughed.

I still laugh when girls tell me what a terrible time they have being pursued by men. It's their own fault most times, if they are.

STATE NEWS

BOY RAN OVER

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 24.—Ralph Nobles, 15-year-old son of W. M. Nobles, who was seriously injured last week when a car driven by an unknown person ran over him near the Alachua county fair grounds, still lies in a critical condition and little hope is now entertained for his recovery. He is delirious. His injuries amounted to a cut over the eye, a badly lacerated leg and a fractured skull.

ONE DEAD IN MIAMI ACCIDENT

MIAMI, Nov. 24.—D. E. Holdgate, said to be an employe of the Starr Piano company, 428 Twelfth street, was instantly killed and C. M. Magill, in the service of the same company, narrowly escaped death when the motor car in which they were crossing the railway tracks at Osceola road and Avenue E was struck by a northbound train Monday. The car, a new Ford, was demolished.

Magill saved himself by leaping from the machine just before the train struck it, and is said to have suffered no serious injuries.

CONVICT KILLED

ST. AUGUSTINE, Nov. 24.—William Murphy, who was recently sentenced to 30 days on the road gang for beating his way on a railroad train was shot and instantly killed in New Augustine shortly before noon today by Convict Guard Frank Quigley, while the prisoner was making an attack upon the officer.

Murphy, who is believed to come from Wilmington, Del., was recently arrested with several companions for beating their way on a train and sentenced to serve 30 days on the road gang.

DOUBLE LAUNCHING

TAMPA, Nov. 24.—There will be a double launching at the shipyard of the Oscar Daniels company next Saturday afternoon, when the 9,500-ton steel steamship City of Dalhart, ninth of its type to be launched at this yard, will glide down the ways. Immediately after the Dalhart takes to the water the steel tug Lorraine D. will be sent down the ways. The Dalhart is a shipping board vessel and is named for the town of Dalhart, Tex. It will be christened by Miss Marcella Walker of Dalhart, who is coming here for that purpose. The Lorraine D. is the property of the shipyard and will be christened by Miss Lorraine Daniels, daughter of President Daniels, and for whom it was named.

BIG MOVIE TO BE TAKEN AT MAGIC CITY

MIAMI, Nov. 24.—A motion picture which will compare with the greatest pictures ever filmed will be begun in Miami within a few weeks, according to Charles Gramlich, the manager of the Gramlich studio here. When interviewed yesterday by a Herald reporter, Mr. Gramlich said that all scenes would be taken in and about Miami except several mountain scenes representing the South African diamond mines, which will be filmed in Cuba. This new master classic, "The Call of the Soul," is a seven reel production calling for over 500 extras. Several well known stars have been engaged for the leading parts, and Walter A. Hale, a director of world-wide reputation, is on his way from New York to direct the picture.

TOY FACTORY FOR ST. PETE

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—A toy factory in which 100 skilled workmen ultimately will be employed is to be started here in a building on Second avenue south between Seventh and Eighth streets. It is expected that a big all-year business will be developed. The toys made of wood will be manufactured here by the H. & A. Wood Products company, which is being incorporated for $10,000 and papers for the incorporation have now been sent to the secretary of state. In the period of time which it takes for the incorporation papers to be sent back from the secretary of state the company will start at once manufacturing the products under the name of the H. & A. Wood Products company as a company partnership which is made up of the same men as the incorporation. The officers of the company are William E. Hooker, president; M. F. Albright, vice president; Harold J. Albright, secretary-treasurer, who will hold the same offices under the incorporation.

JUST JOKING

Experience Teaches.

Teacher—Jimmy, give an example of minority ruling.

Jimmy—when there is a baby in the family.—Boy's Life.

A Long Story.

Hub (who wants his dinner)—Nearly 8 o'clock. And you said you were just going to step in next door to see how Mrs. Gabbleton was.

Wife—Well, she insisted on telling me.—Boston Transcript.

A Distinction.

"Don't you ever get tired of playing golf?"

"No, I never weary of playing, but I'll admit frankly that the sort of golf I play very often makes me good and tired."—Detroit Free Press.

Exactly.

"There are exceptions to every rule, you know."

"Who's the exception to the rule that we all must die?"

"Ah, that's the exception to the rule that all rules have their exceptions."—Boston Transcript.

Not Quite Lost.

The little chap began so woefully until quite a crowd had collected.

"What is the matter, little fellow?" one asked kindly.

"I'm lost," was the reply. "Won't all of you take me home to Mo[illegible]"

[illegible] the [illegible] just received a [illegible] cards, calls and [illegible] which he is selling [illegible] than cost?"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Pr[illegible].

A little chap who had just felt the hard side of a slipper, turned to his parent for consolation.

"Mamma," he asked, "did grandpa spank daddy when he was little?"

"Yes," replied his mother, impressively.

"And did his daddy spank him?"

"Yes."

"And did his daddy spank him?"

"Yes."

A pause.

"Well, who started the thing, anyway?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

[illegible] Note.

A bashful [illegible] found the young ladies in the parish [illegible] but it became so [illegible] he left.

Not long afterward he met the [illegible] who had succeeded him.

"Well," he asked, "how did you get on with the ladies?"

"Oh, very well indeed," said the other. "There is safety in numbers, you know."

"Indeed!" said the ex-curate. "I only found it in Exodus."—[illegible]

"GIFTS THAT LAST." DO IT NOW. ROWE'S

No Reason to Talk.

"Can your baby brother talk yet?" a neighbor inquired of a small lad.

"No, he can't talk, and there is no reason why he should talk," was the disgusted reply. "What does he want to talk for, when all he has to do is yell to get everything in the house that's worth having?"—Tit-Bits.

A Delicate Sense.

"Which is the most delicate of the senses?" asked the teacher.

"The touch," said young Jones.

"How's that?" asked the teacher and Jones explained: "Well, when you sit on a pin, you can't see it; you can't hear it, you can't taste it, but it's there."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Her Guess.

Elsie—I wonder why silk is more expensive than wool is.

Marjorie—I guess it's 'cause it's a lot more trouble to raise the little silk worms than the big sheep.—Boston Transcript.

Reason Enough.

Bix (coming out of theater)—Why did everybody cry during the death scene? They must have known that the actor was not dead.

Jinks—Yes, that was just it.—Michigan Gargoyle.

The Next Best Thing.

Blue blood was the only thing Mrs. Newrich hadn't been able to buy; but she made up for the lack of it by assiduously hunting up acquaintances with the "nobility and gentry."

At an afternoon party she met a friend of similar social ambitions.

"Oh, Miss Tufthunter," she exclaimed, "such good news! you'll die of envy."

"Well, out with it!" the friend sneered.

"Why, my dear," said Mrs. Newrich, "Clara has caught the flu from the dear duchess!"—Answers.

Why I'm Thankful

Imaginary Letters They Didn't Write

Dear Editor: I'm thankful to the people for finding a fine home for me for at least the next four years, rent free. WARREN G. HARDING.

Editor Daily News: I've just been thinking how wonderful it is to sleep on a pillow that has nothing under it. The fellows who slept on head rests with something under them have spent many sleepless nights recently. A smooth pillow is about the greatest blessing I can imagine. We all need sleep, you know. Thankfully, RAY SCHALK.

Editor Daily News: I'm thankful the American public is boobish enough to fall for a $500,000 purse for my next big fight. JACK DEMPSEY.

Hello Folks: I am thankful I changed from a pitcher into a hitter. I could hit pretty fair while I was pitching, but now I can give all my time to batting. There's lots more fun in slamming the ball than curving it. BABE RUTH.

Editor Daily News: I have so many things to be thankful for I just don't know where to begin—but to roll them all into one big thankful—let me offer that up for the coming true of my wonderful dreams of New York. EDITH MAY.

Editor Daily News: Where there is a hell in a certain fad, there is hope for me. Hence let me offer thanks for the dying out of the monkey gland sensation that swept the country for a time.

Also I am thankful that my old friend pea-nut was not one of those who fell for the sensation. AN APE.

Editor of the Daily News: Even in Russia one can find cause for thanksgiving (though it does take some looking). Having lived among the Bolsheviki, I can face with serene pleasure the prospect of a hell after death. Which is something. EMMA GOLDMAN.

Editor of the Daily News: I am thankful that nobody asked me to run this year. Also that the campaign is over so I can talk freely again. Also for the grand American institution—the lecture platform. WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Dear Editor: Because soon I may crawl out from under the cover of vice presidential obscurity and let my light flicker where others may see it and without first obtaining the consent of the senatorial sovereigns of the nation. TOM RILEY MARSHALL.

Editor of the Daily News (via Ouija): When I note that my modest Thanksgiving dinner costs thee eleven dollars, I give thanks that I died when I did. WILLIAM PENN.

Editor of the Daily News: We give thanks for the election of Warren G. Harding, because this means America's prompt entrance into peace-ensuring League of Nations. WILLIAM H. TAFT AND ELIHU ROOT.

(Now read the next)

Editor of the Daily News: We give thanks for the election of Warren G. Harding because this means America's flat rejection of the war-breeding League of Nations. HIRAM JOHNSON AND WILLIAM E. BORAH.

Editor Daily News: The bulk of my thanks to be offered up this year will fall in the direction of baseball and toward the little kids who love that game. JUDGE K. M. LANDIS.

Editor Daily News: That I am still alive! For 32 years—since I was 100—have I offered thanks to that thought. I am also thankful that the man who wrote "you are only as old as you feel" was absolutely right. "UNCLE JOHN" SHELL.

Dear Editor: Because the Democratic national convention didn't nominate me. W. G. M'ADOO.

Dear Mr. Editor: Because I'm so deaf that I cannot hear prices dropping. STOREKEEPER.

Editor: Yassah. Mistah Editah, ah sure is thankful for to be going along to that big White House this spring. I been thinking for a long time the kitchen in that there house must have the most wonderfulest place to roast chicken. INEZ M'WHORTER, (Harding's colored cook.)

Dear Editor: I'm thankful that folks only give thanks and not gifts on Thanksgiving. MAIL CARRIER.

Editor Daily News: I am thankful for mamma and papa, my big sister and my dolly. LITTLE GIRL.

Editor: Because it's Thanksgiving and I don't have to go to school and because there'll only be three more weeks of school until the Christmas vacation starts.

And if that isn't enough I'm thankful that there is only a month until Christmas. JIMMY RILEY.

Editor Daily News: I'm thankful to be out of jail and still in the United States Senate. TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY.

Editor the Daily News: I'm thankful the baseball moguls didn't have the pocket nerve to inflict another big league war on the public. A FAN.

Editor: I'm thankful that, despite all the politicians do to misrepresent us, I can still be proud of my native land. AN AMERICAN.

Mr. Editor: I am thankful that I am the second woman, not the first or the hundredth, to be sent to Congress. I don't have to break the ice, but still I am a novelty. ALICE ROBERTSON.

Muskogee, Okla.

Editor: You bet I'm thankful. The first freezing day this fall my best friend literally poured the stuff down my throat—and it wasn't any 2.75, either. He said I needed it to keep me going. AN AUTOMOBILE RADIATOR.

Mr. Editor: I'm thankful—and so is my owner—that I rolled "7" instead of "boxcar" when he bet the price of his Thanksgiving dinner. BONES.

CONTRIBUTIONS ASKED FOR WORTHY CHARITIES CAUSE

While it is hoped to raise a magnificent sum for the Associated Charities Thursday, at the Thanksgiving services in the various churches, those close to the charities work are also desirous that contributions from those unable to attend the union services and give at that time, will be given in at the office at any time convenient.

The local Associated Charities depends altogether on contributions from friends of the organization, who appreciate the great work the organization is doing. Work at this time among the poor of the community has drained the funds of the association. To re-establish the Associated Charities on a firm basis, so that the good work may be continued, is the object of the collection at this time, to which societies and individuals are responding most generously.

LATEST NEWS OF THE TICKER FROM NEW YORK MARKET

(Dow Jones Service.)

The stock exchange has begun a war on vicious rumor circulation.

Higher railroad rates will be in effect in New York state beginning Monday.

W. D. Vanderlip says recognition of the Soviet is not involved in his trade contracts, and that he fears England may seize the advantage.

The Interstate Commerce commission has overruled the secretary of the treasury in holding up payments to railroads and declares that the roads are justified in applying for loans from the revolving funds when the money rates are excessive.

Clark, Childs & Co., say today in their stock opinion: "We expect it will soon be more difficult to borrow stocks and easier money returned, a greater amount of borrowed stock may be demanded. The fact remains that earning powers and asset positions are not adequately represented in current prices of most active industrial securities while in the railroad list, there are chances that may not be repeated for a long time."

C. I. Hudson & Co., say: "Well posted outhorities on the commercial outlook speaks very hopefully of many encouraging signs of a restoration to more normal business thruout the country, expecting that by spring the latest things will be speeding along much nearer the old gait which obtained before the war."

MIAMI, Nov. 28—Another rumrunning boat was captured by prohibition agents last night with 15 cases of liquor aboard, making the fifth boat seized by Federal authorities for participating in the liquor traffic within the last three weeks.

The boat taken last night was the "Peerless", the ownership of which has not been established. No one was aboard the craft when she was found near the municipal docks last night, but the agents saw an automobile drive swiftly off as they approached the shore opposite the vessel. Those who made the raid were J. E. Moore and W. Brilinger.

R. B. Ross, who Saturday surrendered to the federal authorities and confessed he was one of those who broke jail at Miami Beach after being caught aboard the alleged liquor smuggling boat "Dauntless" at Baker's Haulover Thursday night, was released under a bond of $2,500. The names of the other two taken with him are said to be known, and it is thought their capture will be a matter of only a few hours.

"We are making a thorough investigation of the affair," said Mayor T. E. James of Miami Beach today. "We are going to find out if that door was left unlocked or if it was broken open from the inside. We expect to have a report and the matter ready for the council meeting Wednesday night."

IT TAKES RED BLOOD TO [illegible]

Pepto-Mangan Restores Vigor. A Really Wonderful Tonic, Purifies and Tones up the Blood

It takes vitality to succeed because success requires hard work.

Some days you get along all right. Other times you have to strain and you overtax yourself. When that happens, your system is overtaxed. It shows first in the blood. The overexertion causes an increase in waste matter. The blood struggles to take care of it all. Gradually the poisons in the waste increase too fast for the blood. Then the blood becomes clogged.

First thing you know you feel all tired out. Sleep does you little good. You can't eat well. You wonder what the trouble is.

Then is the time to get some Pepto-Mangan, the blood building tonic. Take it for a while till your blood is cleared up. You'll soon have plenty of rich, red blood.—Notice the difference in your work. Your old-time energy returns. You win out because you are stronger.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. The tablets have the same medicinal value as the liquid. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's". The full name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package. —(Adv.)

JACKSONVILLE MAN MARRIES HIS OWN DAUGHTER, AGED 27

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24—With the indictment here of William Jones, aged 51, on a charge of having married his own daughter and being a father to her two sons, aged 9 and 4 years there is unfolded one of the strangest tangles ever known, here.

A detective left today for Jacksonville, Fla., to bring Jones back here for trial.

Anna Jones, aged 27, says her father told her he was her stepfather. Her mother died when she was 15. She married in 1911. Several months ago she had a strange dream and wrote Jones' mother, who told her that Jones was her real father and informed her of their marriage. The young wife then came to Baltimore.

[illegible] AUSTRIA [illegible]

(United Press.)

GENEVA, Nov. 24.—Immediate admission of Austria and Bulgaria was recommended to the League of Nations by a commission on membership today. The commission reached favorable decisions on ex-enemies and allies, but withheld their recommendation for several small European states until conditions are stabilized and recognition has been accorded by nearby powers.

Those states favored for membership in today's report were Austria, Bulgaria, Finland, Albania and Luxembourg.

Speaking before the sixth commission, Leon Bourgeois of France declared that France cannot disarm until Germany has been compelled to

CHIROPRACTIC FOR WOMEN

Chiropractic is uniformly applicable to individuals of all ages and both sexes. The most sickness is perhaps experienced by women. Chiropractic is a boon to womankind. Troubles commonly known as peculiar to women respond readily to Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments. Nervous

Troubles and Menstrual Disturbances causing much pain, are greatly relieved and often permanently cured by Chiropractic treatment. Headaches in most instances are quickly relieved by Adjustments. When we understand that in women particularly headache is merely an effect of one or more of several disorders that may be present in bodily regions remote from the head, the value of Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments as a rejuvenator of depleted functional derangements, is shown. If you are suffering from any such ailment, consult a Chiropractic Physician and have him make a spinal analysis.

Modesty.

Many ladies hesitate to be examined by doctors. There is no immodest ordered in submitting to a Chiropractic Examination or Analysis of the Spine and Nerves. No part of the body is brought to view save the area directly over the spinal column as shown by the illustration.

The illustration shows a lady prepared for Chiropractic Spinal Examination and Treatment. Suitable dressing rooms and treatment gowns are provided and a trained nurse is always in attendance at the office of Dr. E. J. Meinhardt, Chiropractic Physician, Daytona, Florida.
